I am a senior at Lehigh University this year double majoring in Computer Science and Music Composition. I've had a comprehensive theoretical and practical experience with C++, C, and Java as a result of my education and personal projects. In addition, I've worked with Ruby, Python, Lisp. I've also studied web languages (html/css/javascript etc) for eight years. I have a specific interest in mobile development, object orientated design, and creative interactive technologies. I've had passing experiencing with Objective C from co-designing, marketing, and composing for an iPhone game in 2012. The game was successful, being featured in dozens of online publications and maintaining a 5 star rating in the App Store. I am particularly interested in this opportunity to commit and grow with a project and hope you will consider me as an eligible candidate. If you are interested in talking more with me, I can be reached most afternoons at 484-626-0955 but prefer to be emailed at luming000hao@gmail.com
